RELATIVES WRITE

BUT IT WAS ONLY FOR THE OLD MAN'S BELONGINGS.

Relatives of J. M. Robbins, the man who fell from a trestle near First and Washington two weeks ago and died from his injuries, have written Paducah for his clothes and other belongings. It is the first heard of since the old man died his body lying there for a week or more waiting for me of his people to have him buried. It finally being buried in a pauper's grave. As the deceased had nothing but the clothes in which he was clad, however, nothing was sent to his people in Hanover, Ind. The talk at the old fellow meeting with four police. He had no money and no enemies that they know of, they declare, and there was no reason to suspect foul play. His daughter failed to send money with which to bury him because, they think, she was unable to obtain it.

WILLOW FLIES

FIRST BAD INVASION OF THE SEASON LAST NIGHT.

The wharfbots have been literally plastered with willow flies today. Last night a swarm seldom surpassed in the many years they have been invading Paducah at irregular intervals, swooped down on everything near the river's edge, and almost completely covered the boats, barges, skiffs and everything else at the wharf.

The flies are harmless and live only a few hours. They fly in swarms and stick to the first thing they strike.

TO SELECT BOOKS

COMMISSION MEETS TODAY AT FRANKFORT.

The school book commission of the state will meet at Frankfort this afternoon to canvass the returns from the various counties and let the contract books for five years.

Returns from the various county bids have been received by the superintendent, but are yet under seal. There are five bidding companies, the African Book Company having submitted the only full list of books from which the county boards might select.

Books selected by the commission here were those of the American Book Company, which will probably let the contract.

END OF ROMANCE

WAS THE WEDDING OF KEN-TUCKIANS AT ST. LOUIS.

A number of people known in Southwest Kentucky participated in the wedding in the Kentucky building at the World's Fair Wednesday.

The central figures were Mr. J. R. Willitt, principal of the high school at Crary, N. D., and Miss Susie Eloise Boyd, school teacher at Salem, Ky. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. Leland Atwood, formerly of Clinton, Ky., and now pastor of the First Baptist church of Chester, Pa., to whom the bride went to school before he entered the ministry.

The bridesmaids were Miss Addie Boyd, of Salem, sister of the bride; Miss Annie Willitt, of Brandenburg, sister of the groom; Miss May Atwood, of Clinton, sister of the minister, and Miss Dot Carter, of Livingston county, Ky., a school teacher friend of the bride. Blanton N. Boyd, brother of the bride, acted as the groom's best man. The bride's mother, Mrs. Robert Boyd, of Salem, was present at the ceremony.

The bride and groom had known each other in Kentucky and met for the first time in years, both being in St. Louis to attend the congress of the National Educational Association.

WILD ONIONS

PLAY HAVOC WITH FARMERS IN MASSAC COUNTY.

Wild onions are causing consternation on more than one farm in Massac county, Ill., across the river from Paducah, but thus far they have not succeeded in becoming troublesome on the Kentucky shore.

For sometime the spread of this obnoxious plant has been on the increase on the Illinois side, until there is hardly a farm in the entire country that is entirely free from it.

The great question with the farmers is what method of handling the pest will kill it out. Plowing and turning under seems to be of no avail.

In a wheat field it is a source of great damage to the wheat as it cannot be found out and will cause the flour ground from the wheat to smell as will the bread or pastry made from such flour.

INDIGESTION.

With its companions, heartburn, flatulence, torpidity of the liver, constipation, palpitation of the heart, poor blood, headache and other nervous symptoms, sallow skin, foni tongue, offensive breath and a legion of other ailments, is at once the most widespread and destructive malady among the American people. The Herbine treatment will cure all these troubles. 50c bottle.
